The third annual Asia Power Forum will take place on Friday 12 April 2019 at the Fullerton Hotel, Singapore.

The Asia Power Forum was founded to serve the Asian insurance and reinsurance markets involved in the power generation sector. It is aimed at insurance market professionals; including insurers/reinsurers, brokers, and their power sector clients, as well as technical experts.

This specialist full-day conference, which achieved a capacity/sell-out attendance in 2017 and 2018, focuses on relevant power sector themes, targeted both at those new to the sector alongside seasoned veterans. There will be a mixture of topical presentations on contemporary technological developments and issues, industry challenges and pressures, insurance market conditions, and claims issues. The agenda is being designed in close liaison with power sector representatives. This conference will also provide appropriate networking opportunities.

The intention in 2019 is to include a half-day primer session on the afternoon of 11 April for interested young professionals attending the conference. More details of this will follow closer to the event.

Delegates from all aspects of the regional insurance market and power generation sector are welcome, as well as those from other international centres with an interest in the Asian Power Sector. We hope you can join us again and make this another engaging and successful event!
